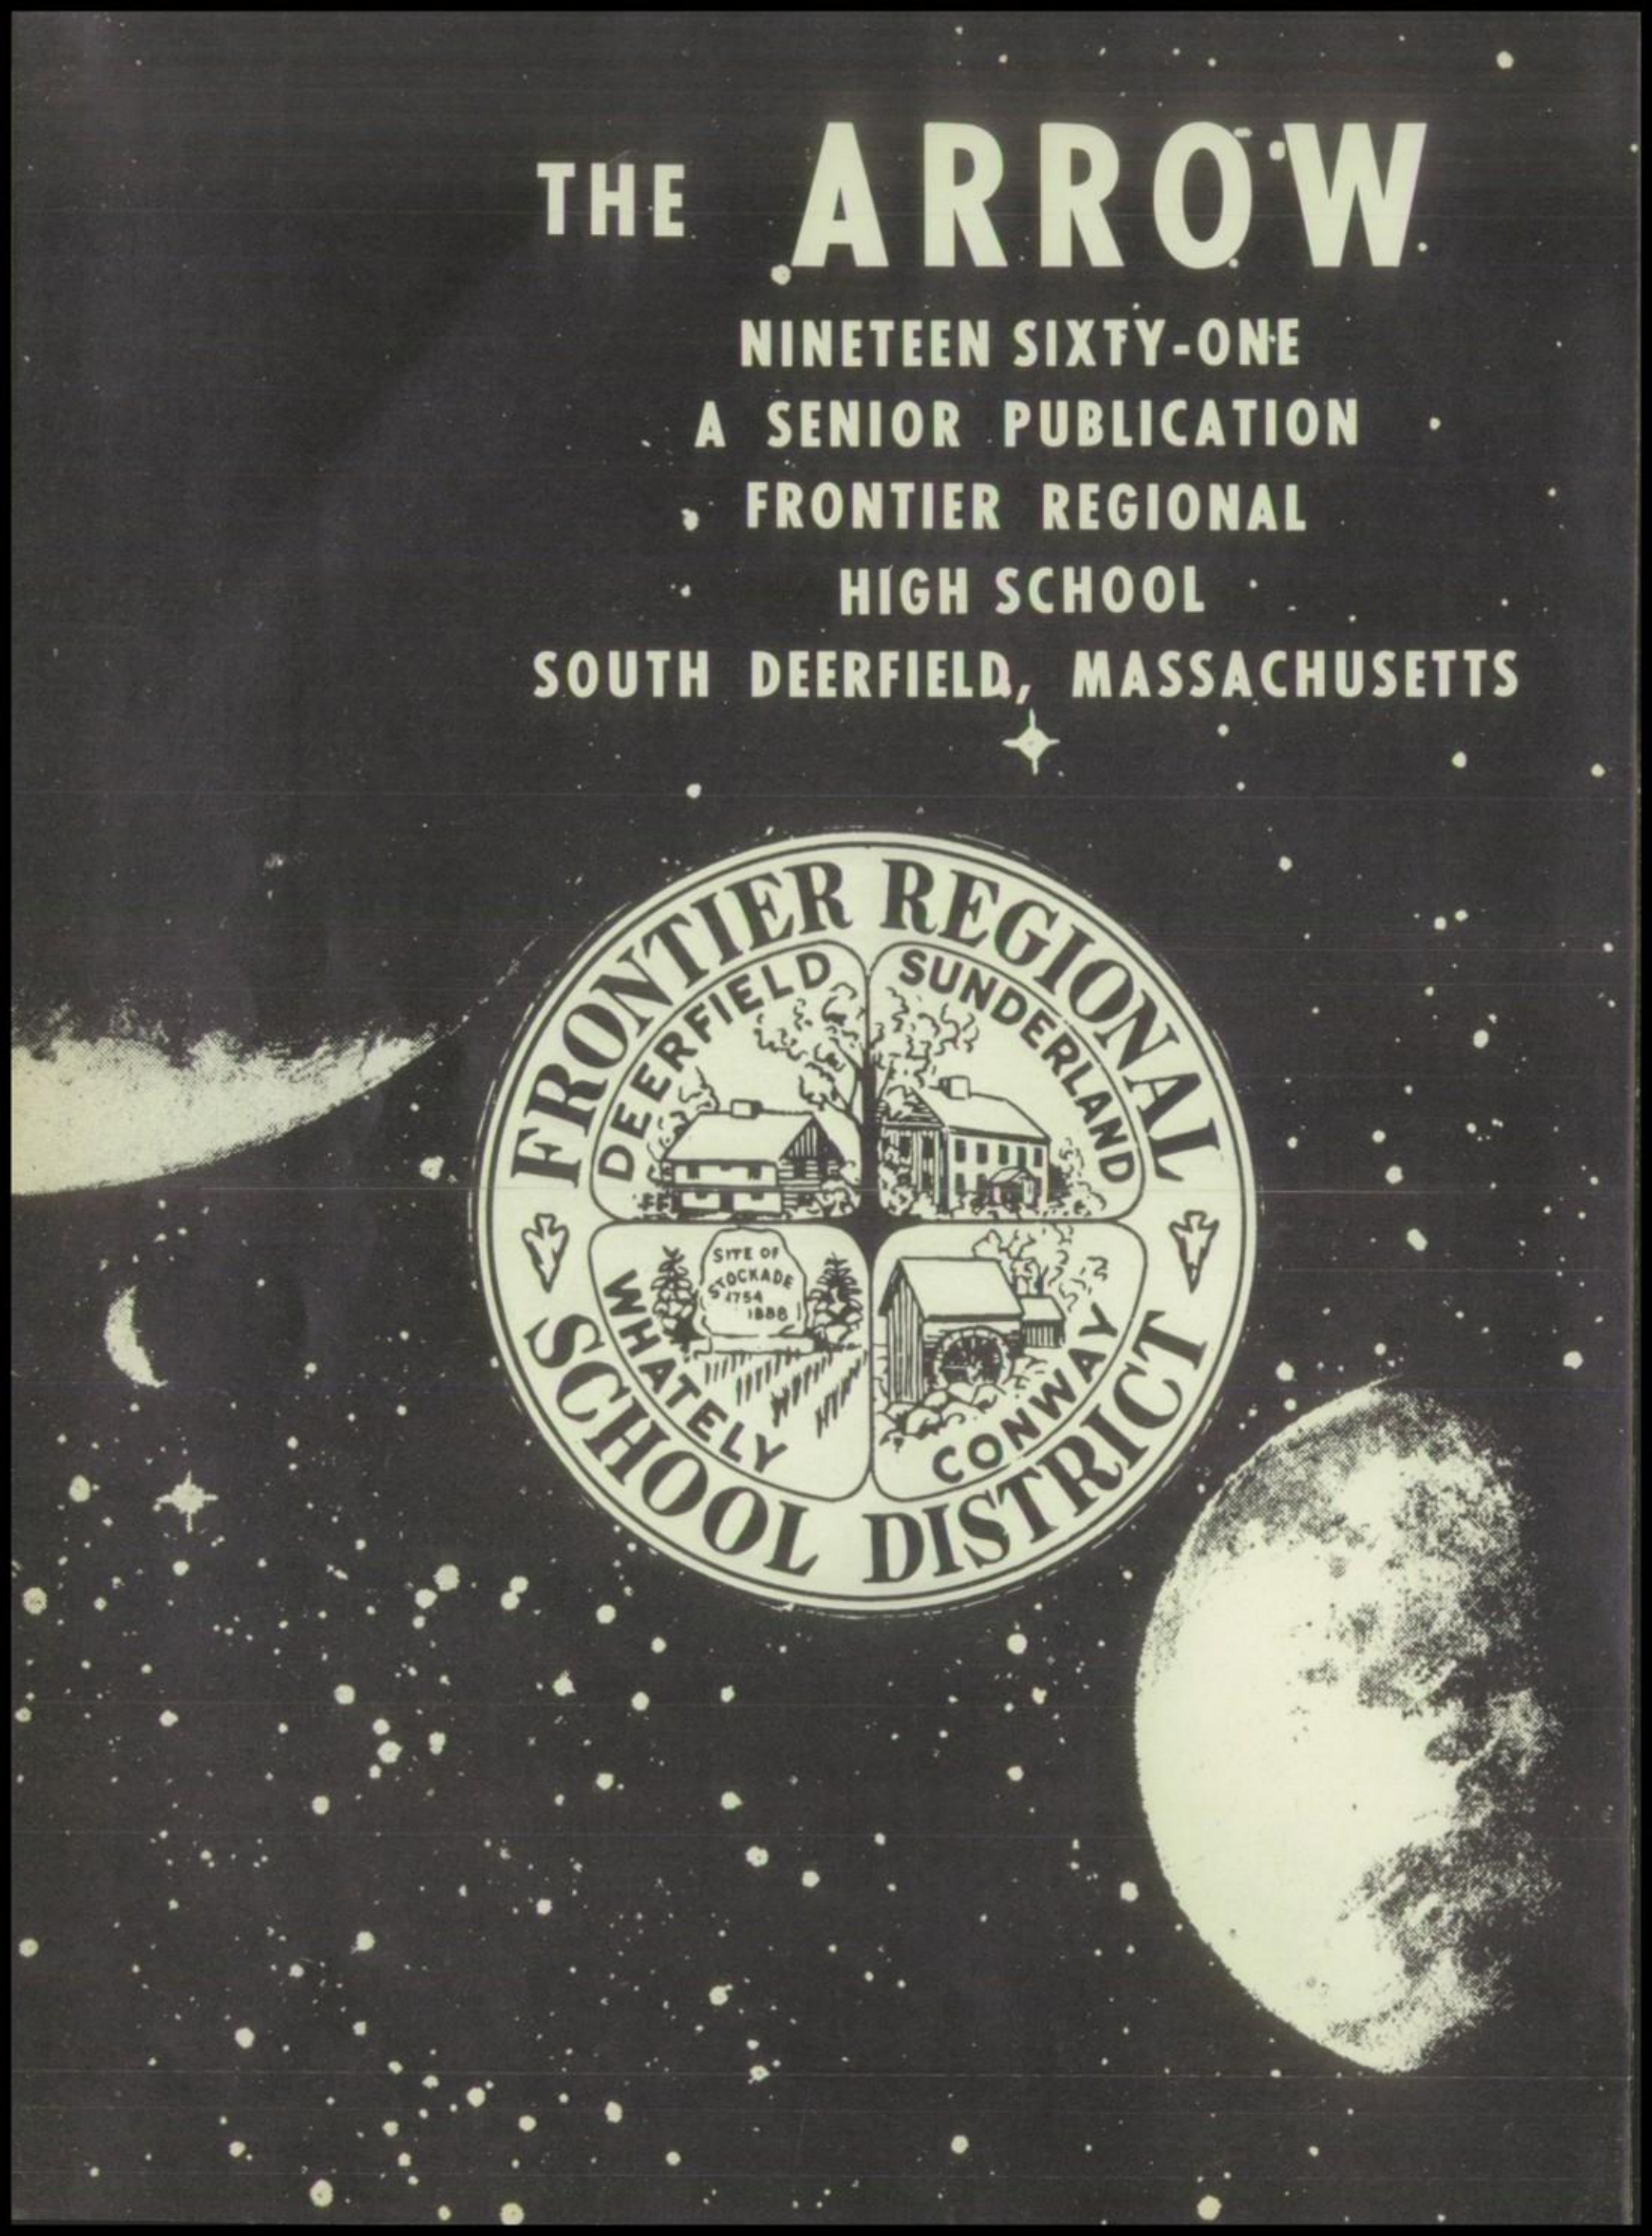
A SENIOR PUBLICATION

FRONTIER REGIONAL

HIGH SCHOOL

SOUTH DEERFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS



DEDICATED TO .....

Miss Goodnow And Coach Edgar

In this Space Age characterized by competition, confusion, and endless pressures, sportsmanship, and cooperation become prerequisites for success. These qualities, together with a sense of responsibility and the will to succeed, are implanted in our young men and women through physical education.

It is with gratitude and appreciation that we dedicate the 1961 Arrow to two of the best in the field: to you, Miss Viola Goodnow, patient, understanding, devoted friend, and to you, Coach John Edgar, steadfast, exacting coach.

Tomorrow...The Stars

We, the class of 1961, are looking into the vast unknown. Behind us we leave the halls that have shaken with our laughter, grown sullen with our disappointments and failures, and have rejoiced at the sound of our successes. These halls our feet have trod year in and year out, as we have traveled to and from the classes that have endowed us with the knowledge which we shall carry on into the future. As we part, each taking his own way, we proceed on the roads that will lead us into the vast unknown.

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

SUPT. BENNETT

WARREN D. BENNETT
SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

BERTRAND G. ROSEN
PRINCIPAL

Frontier Regional School
SOUTH DEERFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS

To the Class of 1961:

My sincere congratulations to the graduating Class of 1961 as you sucessfully complete your secondary education. Now to you comes the opportunity of pioneering in the new frontier of the Nuclear Age. You are charged with the responsibility of harnessing or controlling this vast amount of energy which science has developed, for the benefit of all mankind. At Frontier, we hope that you have begun to acquire the skills, habits, attitudes and knowledge for this tremendous task.

I would like to have you leave here with the idea that throughout your life education should be a continuing process, whether it is in a formal school way, or informally, through independent study and experience. If you place the emphasis on individual fulfillment and personal growth, your life as a citizen will be a source of satisfaction to the community which provided you with the foundation here at Frontier Regional School.

Sincerely yours,

Warren D. Bennett

PRINCIPAL BERTRAND G. ROGER

FROM OUR PRINCIPAL

To the members of the graduating class:

"No man is an island, complete in himself." These words of John Donne should have special meaning for the graduates of 1961. Never before have men of all races and creeds been so dependent upon each other for their continued growth and prosperity. No young person moving forward into the world today can be forgetful of his duties and responsibilities to his fellow men. No young person can hope to succeed today without the cooperative efforts of the many who surround him.

The success of one is no more than a reflection of the cooperation of all.

IN APPRECIATION

We, the Class of 1961, are deeply appreciative of the role that you, the faculty, have played for the past five years. It is to you that we dedicate this page and leave this token of profound thanks.

You have taught us our basic subjects and showed us ways in which to improve ourselves. You have smiled upon the good deeds that we did and frowned upon those mistakes we have so often made. Now that the end of the road has been reached, we realize the full significance of all your efforts.

For your unceasing concern, thoughtfulness, and true guidance, we, the Class of 1961, wish to thank you in this small and belated way.

A group of newly elected Student Council members met in the fall with Mr. Roger, their advisor. A constitution was written and submitted to the student body for approval. When it was ratified, a meeting of the representatives was held in December.

The effect of the Student Council has been felt throughout the school. Books no longer were left in the corridors at lunch time. Friday night dances were held after home basketball games. The council also established a snack bar, provided a senior girls' room, and raised money for a scholarship fund.

Throughout the year, the Student Council certainly has helped to improve the school.

MARSHALS

Rushing through the halls, one always sees special students standing at the top and bottom of stairways and in the corridors wearing armbands signifying that they are marshals. Under the new school constitution, this organization was established, headed by Myron Rokoszak as vice-president of the Student Council. The object of having marshals is to maintain order among the students during school hours, in the halls, during assembly, in the cafeteria, and in the absence of a teacher.

To be a marshal is considered an honor. The organization has been successful in its endeavors.

Chief Marshal, Myron Rokoszak

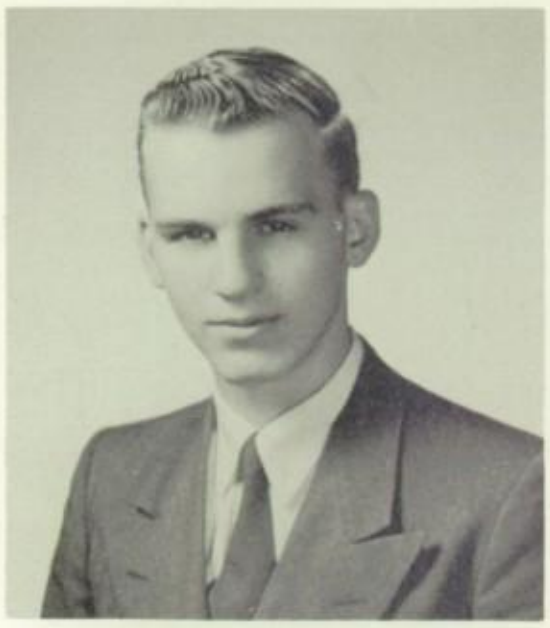
NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

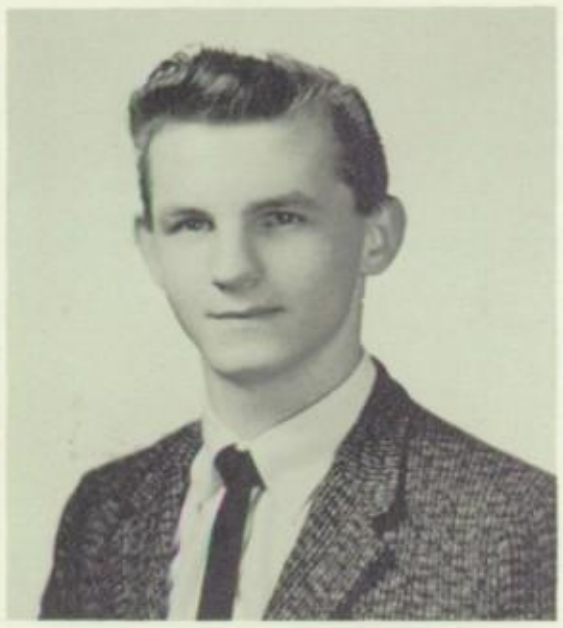
The National Honor Society consists of students who have maintained an average of eighty-five percent or better for three and a half years. Those juniors who have earned an average of ninety percent or better during a two and a half year period are also elected to this group. These students remain members of the National Honor Society during their senior year. Selections are also made by the teachers on the basis of leadership and character, as well as on the student's contributions to the school. To be a member of this distinguished organization is an honor and a privilege.

On May 11, 1961, ten students were inducted into the National Honor Society. Absent when the picture was taken was Myron Rokoszak.



John Paciorek

John was always a perfect gentleman upon whom everyone could depend. His personality and character seemed to be almost above reproach.



Gerard Paciorek

Gerard was a smiling, co-operative, and friendly person whose activities in school as well as his outside work made him a lad to be respected.

Martha Graves

Martha was one of the few ideal examples of athletic and academic ability combined into one loyal and esteemed citizen of Frontier.

CITIZEN OF THE MONTH

This year under the provisions of the Student Council constitution, a new award was made available in order to promote and develop a better civic behavior in the students. To merit this honor, a student must have either performed some specific act or rendered some service which truly exemplifies the principles of good citizenship, or who has by his or her general behavior proved worthy of the award.

Names of candidates were submitted by students, school organizations, and the faculty. Members of the Frontier Regional Student Council acted as a Citizenship Committee and selected the winners by a two-thirds vote.

Each month our selected student was an honored guest of the Rotary Club where he or she was given an excellent reception. Each recipient was publicised in the local newspapers, and each winner had his name engraved on a plaque which is located in the corridor near the eight doors.

Michael Morawski

Michael's determination carried him to victories in receiving several top agricultural awards which brought to him and the school honor and prestige.

Helen Radowicz

Helen was one of those people who seemed to have the gods on her side. Her abilities in varied areas made her a remarkable girl of whom Frontier should certainly be proud.

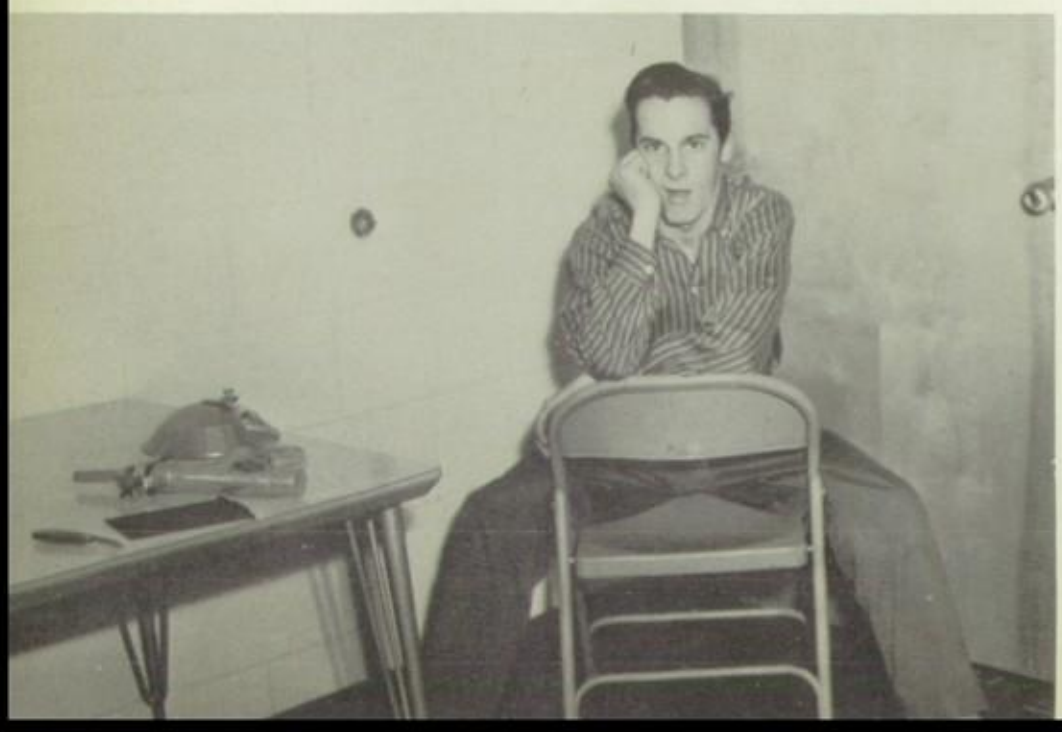
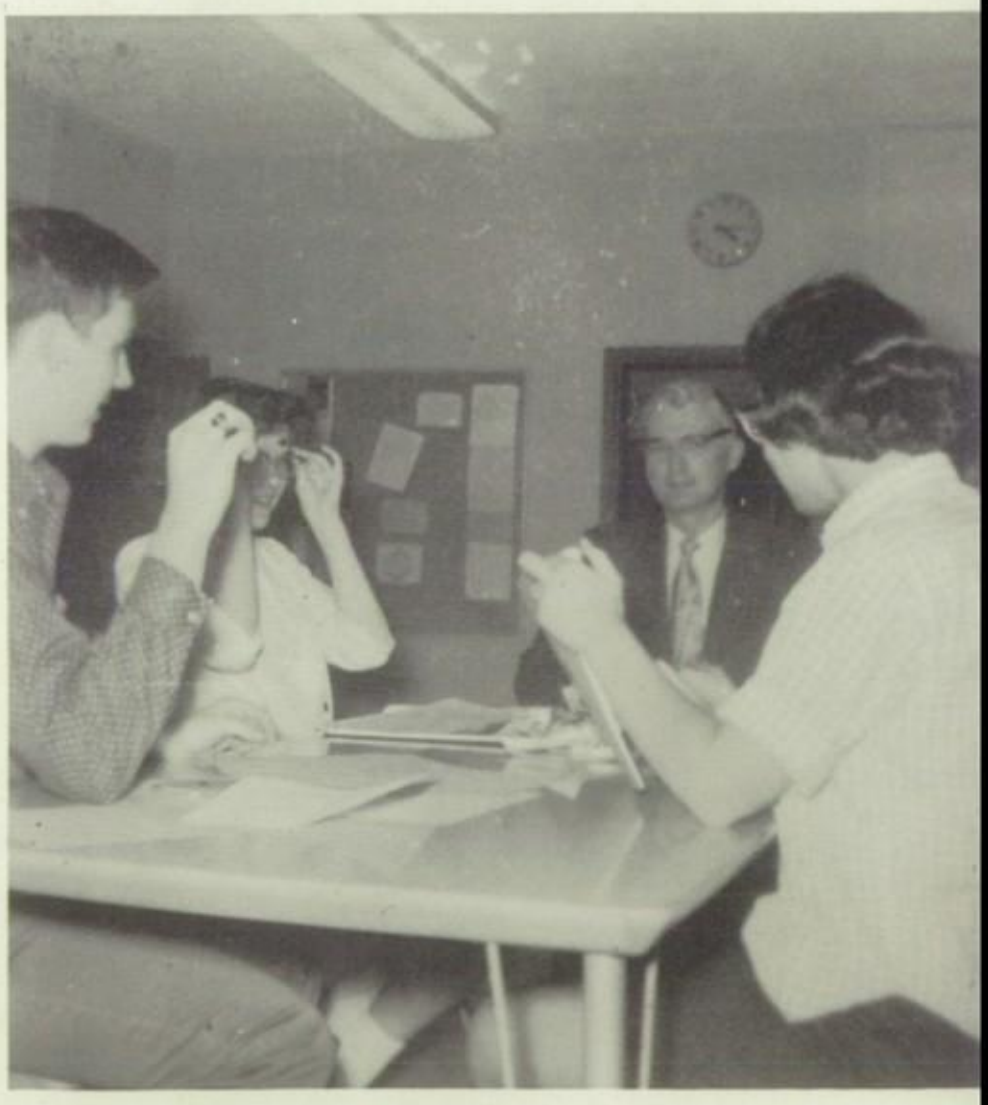
ARROW STAFF

As one can easily observe, it took much work to compile this yearbook. During the summer, two planning meetings were held. The actual work started in September. Sometimes the staff wondered if they would survive with all the work living. They completed the task of giving to the seniors and the school a yearbook long to be remembered.

Some important individuals on the staff are: Mrs. LaPlante and Mr. Thomas, advisors; Miriam Brooks, editor; Margaret Thompson, art and assistant editor; Richard Callahan, business manager; Paul Charsky, photographer.





Any time you're ready!

Not another one to take!

VARSITY STAFF

Tomorrow's the deadline!

Inspiration from above?

Under the supervision of Mrs. Ryan, the "Varsity" staff has faithfully worked to edit and compile club, sports, and all other news in the school. This active group spent many busy hours preparing a paper that would interest the students. All the members of the "Varsity" staff, especially Marion McMillen (Editor), Sarah Wolfram and Lois Batchelder (Asst. Editors), wish to thank both the students and the faculty for supporting them in their efforts to publish an enjoyable, interesting, and informative paper for the school.

TRI-HI-Y

Under the leadership of Mrs. Enoch, the TRI-HI-Y was formed shortly after the start of the second semester. Mr. Allan, representative of the YMCA, came to some of the meetings to explain various things. The following officers were elected:

President	Joanne Beaudry
Vice President	Geraldine Klinker
Secretary	Sandra Ralicki
Treasurer	Sylvia Rosenthal
Chaplain	Maryann Morrissey
Reporter	Anastasia Podlo

The name of the Frontier branch of the club is Pi Delta Epsilon.

Arlene Klinker and Joanne Beaudry were selected as the representatives at the Youth Council held periodically in Greenfield.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The girls Athletic Association is an organization joined only by girls active in interscholastic sports. Meetings are held on Friday afternoons. Group activities held, for example, are car washes and dances. Officers are President Martha Graves, Vice President Sandra Ralicki, Treasurer Betsie Baker, and Secretary Betty Ralicki. Miss Goodnow is the group advisor.

VARSITY "F" CLUB

The Varsity "F" Club is a newly established organization which was set up by boys who have earned at least one varsity letter in a sport. Besides running the concessions at the home basketball games, the boys sold sweat shirts. The officers are President Harry Kuenzel, Vice President Bob Jackson, Treasurer Frank Mastaliz, and Secretary John Goodrich. Mr. Edgar is their advisor.

SCIENCE FAIR

The school Science Club, under the direction of Mr. Everett, issued a new constitution in October. Meetings were held on Friday afternoons.

On March 24 and 25, our third annual Science Fair was held. It was a great success with many students entering educational and interesting projects.

First prize winners in the senior high were Helen Radowicz, Edna Lee, and Patricia Paciorek. In the junior high, first prize winners were Joseph Filipkowski, Mary Anne Walsh, and Sandra Dzenis.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS FAIR

The Industrial Arts Fair, directed by Mr. MacDonald, took place on March 24th and 25th. Much preparation went into this exhibition in which each student in the senior high competition designed and built his project from his own plans except for the bobsleds, which were an example of a production project where the students worked as in industry.

Winners were: Freshmen and Sophomores, Julian Goralski, first; John Mieczkowski, second; and David Sanders, third; Juniors and Seniors, Harry Kuenzel, Stanley Shaw, and Lawrence Fortier, first; second, and third, respectively.

After all that work!

DRAMATIC CLUB

With some new talents added to the local stage, the Dramatic Club produced three plays. In the fall, Carolyn Harris, Sayla McClellan, and James Griswold performed in "The Night Is My Enemy." Though a mystery, the production was highly acclaimed by the local critics. In the spring, "Give Us Time to Sing" was presented in Amherst as Frontier's entry in the Drama Festival. The outstanding acting of Maxine Kowalski and Jan Lankowski placed these two individuals in the All-State Cast. The last stage production of the season was "Bull in the China Shop." In this play, the talents of Miriam Brooks, David Sadowsky, and Kenneth Warchol were displayed. Again the critics shouted praises.

It is never merely the acting which makes the play a success. This year a new position was added--that of student director. With the commendable work done by the set crew, publicity, properties, and make-up departments, the year was definitely successful.

USHERETTES

The Usherettes Club consists of a group of charming girls, always willing to serve at school functions. Under the leadership of Jean Dickenson, the group appeared pert and pretty at our two plays, open house, and the commencement exercises.

The seven girls chosen for the forthcoming year were: Gail Snicker, Janet Mowry, Bethany Lively, Silvia Rosenthal, Judith Noska, Peggy Thompson, and Barbara Banasiak.

Congratulations, girls. We know that you will do an excellent job in the future.

MAJORETTES

What is a band without high stepping, gaily attired majorettes? Frontier is especially proud and fortunate to have such a talented group.

Under the excellent leadership of Miss Goodnow, our majorettes braved the cold wind to present their dazzling routines. Beginning in the fall at football games, they then proceeded to display their talent at basketball games, a variety show, the Memorial Day parade, and the music festival in Greenfield. We all have certainly enjoyed their performances and wish them another enjoyable year.

BAND

Under the capable direction of Mr. Short, the band has enjoyed a very prosperous year. Several new things, such as the Exchange Christmas Concert with Turners Falls and Northampton High Schools, the organization of a dance band, and the Munson Exchange Concert were undertaken this past year. The band also supported the football team, and a Pep group was organized to perform at home basketball games. Another activity was the Variety Show sponsored by the band. Spring found everyone busily preparing for the Western Massachusetts Music Festival and the Memorial Day parades.

The dance band, under the direction of Mr. Donald Short, took part in the Variety Show. They also played for a few of the regular Saturday night record hops.

"Oh, that heavenly music!"

This is the eighth grade chorus which has done a great deal, including their participation in the variety show held in April.

CHORUS

The school chorus had a very satisfying year under the leadership of Mr. Short. For the first time in the history of the school, boys were welcomed as members of the organization.

The active group sang at the South Deerfield Common and participated in a regional concert at Christmastime. The special chorus sang at the school variety show and participated in an exchange concert with Munson High School. The combined Munson and Frontier bands held a concert here which took the place of the regular annual concert. All music groups attended the annual Western Massachusetts Music Festival in Greenfield. The band marched in the local Memorial Day parades.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics Club, under the direction of Mrs. Gagner, has had an active and creative year. In the spring of 1960, the following officers were chosen: President, Maureen Moore; Vice-President, Diane Laskoski; Secretary, Katherine Gribko; Treasurer, Peggy Parker.

In the spring the girls entered the Vogue Sewing Contest. Arlene Laskoski placed first, Ann Mileski second, Peggy Parker third, and Mary Ann Sokoloski and Barbara Paciorek fourth. Arlene, the state winner, went to Boston.

The Sadie Hawkins Dance proved to be very successful and a door prize of $5.00 was given to a freshman.

(Left to Right): Barbara Paciorek, Margaret Parker, Ann Mileski, Arlene Laskoski, Joan Korpiewski, and Mary Ann Sokoloski.

We're proud of that boy!

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

The Future Farmers are quite active with juniors and seniors on placement and everyone making field and judging trips. Of the awards given to F. F. A. members, Frontier has reaped its share. A successful year reached its zenith when Michael Morawski was chosen Massachusetts Star Farmer, the highest F.F.A. state honor awarded at the University of Massachusetts. Russell Roberts was selected as Star Dairy Farmer, one of five such awards. This has been the second year in three that a "Redskin" has received the top farming award. Mr. Parker can certainly be proud of "his" boys.

CHESS CLUB

The 1960-1961 Chess Club, comprised of a sixty-member group, had another busy year. Frontier and Turners Falls participated in a tournament in March. At Turners we won nine out of ten games played.

Officers this year were: President- John Paciorek; Vice-President- Richard Swaluk; and Secretary-Treasurer Tophie Nowak. Mr. Denesha was the group advisor.

DRIVER EDUCATION

This subject is not only a course but a public service. Transportation is essential in our modern society. As a result, many students have obtained driving licenses. Often teen-age drivers are criticized. To prove somewhat that these judgments passed upon youth are false, five Frontier students entered the Road-e-o Driving Contest. Passing the rigorous test, David Sanicki received recognition, Judith Besse reached third place, and Donald Graves obtained second place.

SPARKING SPIRIT AND MORALE

The season started with some new ideas brought back from the clinic at Springfield College by delegates Sandra Stafursky, Dianne Benoni, Joanne Beaudry, and Arlene Klinker. All the girls were busy practicing daily for their appearances at the football and basketball games, including the boys' and girls' tournaments at the University of Massachusetts and Grafton, respectively.

The girls could be found working diligently under the competent direction of Miss Peterson in preparation for their annual cheering tourney. The biggest reward came when the girls closed their season by winning first place at the David Prouty Cheering Tournament.

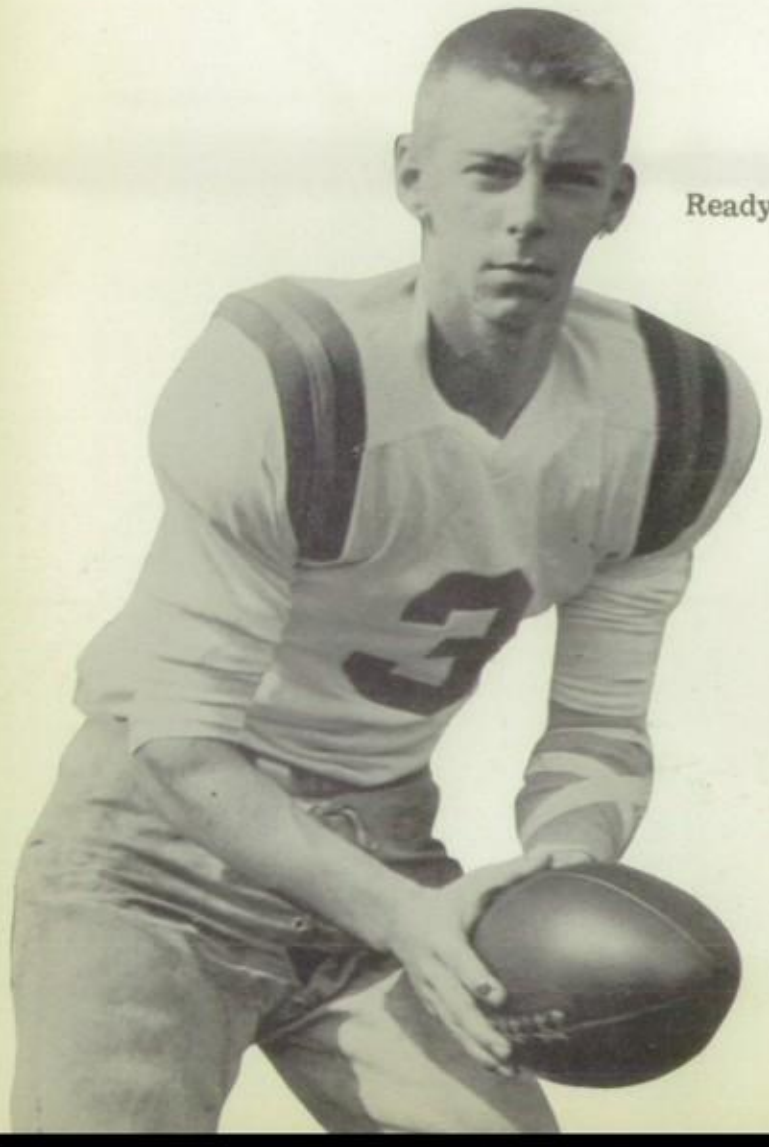
Instrumental in paralyzing the South Hadley Tigers and subjecting them to their only defeat of the season were these members of the all-county football team: guards--Myron Rokozak and Leonard Kahle; halfback Larry Golonka, who placed fifth in county point standings.

Perhaps the Booster Day held on the eve of the South Hadley game helped. Floats designed by various classes, teams, and clubs paraded from West Street to the school, where the cheerleaders and majorettes led a pep rally. South Hadley's fate was decided that night, for a black and orange S.H. brilliantly burned in effigy amidst the towering bonfire. The next day we were the proud victors of the game.



Ready for the kick off.

For the first time in many years our "Redskin" Varsity football team, inspired by the coaching of Mr. Edgar and Mr. Siano, has had a spectacular season. The "Redskins" approached each game as the "underdogs" or "push-overs"; they left as victors. To this scrappy bunch belong the spoils.

The team, with the help of co-captains Schuyler Hoffman and Richard Winskye and coached by Mr. Milewski, had an active season. Many returnees from the previous season joined the eager group of seventh graders to form their team. Games were played with such schools as Eaglebrook, Greenfield, and Turners Falls.

Practices were long and strenuous. Sessions were sometimes held with the high school teams. Many muddy and tired figures were to be seen exiting the field.

Enthusiasm was shown in many of their rough games. They never let themselves or the school down with their conduct or spirit.

"See the guy out there? Pass it to him."

Under the superb coaching of Miss Viola Goodnow, both varsity and junior varsity teams had a terrific season.

What more could one ask than an undefeated varsity team and a powerful junior varsity?

After each home game, we offered our opponents refreshments and gave them a tour of the school. Our hosts treated us likewise.

The co-captains of both squads led their teams in exercising instructing at practice, and bolstering the morale of the players.

For the first time at Frontier, we had a Freshman Basketball Team. They did an outstanding job.

Co-captains Larry Golanka and Edward Kilgour led the squad to a 12-9 season. Exciting events included a last second victory over Hopkins and two strong showings against powerful South Hadley. The outstanding episode came when Coach Edgar's boys repeated last year's victory in the Supplementary Division at the Small School Tournament in Amherst. On April 15 the boys were feted at a banquet sponsored by the Lion's Club at the Gables Restaurant.

The Junior Varsity played this year under the tutelage of Coach Siano. Although the team record was a rather poor 5-12, there were nearly all freshmen and sophomores on the squad. Many of the boys, however, showed great potential for the future. Highlights of the season were 59-43 and 44-22 wins over Pioneer, a single win of 48-40 over Hopkins, and a sharp 56-8 defeat over Huntington. The boys finished their campaign by displaying the best game of the year as they tipped Turners Falls 38-36 in a thrilling climax.

This year the Junior High team had a 9 win 8 loss record.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL TEAM

The Varsity team terminated their busy schedule with a three-year record of 52 wins and 4 losses. They were also asked to demonstrate their skill at the Springfield and Worchester clinics.

At Grafton, the girls gave an excellent display. Girls making the all tourney team were Georgeann Dufault, Judy Kilgour, Christine Gadomski, and Betty Ralicki. Judy and Georgeann tied for the Most Valuable Player Award. Martha won the Sportsmanship Award, which was a great honor for both player and her school.

This is our fabulous coach and the outstanding co-captains.

With co-captains Beverly Guilford and Sandra Ralicki, the team finished the season with a record of five wins and four losses.

The team attended the Springfield and Worchester Clinics with the Varsity team. This is a great honor for the teams, since this event is usually given to college teams only. Frontier was awarded honor because of its sportsmanship and playing strategy displayed in their games the previous year.

Many long practice sessions were held after school and during the Christmas vacations. The girls worked diligently. The progress was in their playing. Outstanding member of the team this year was Carol Pasiecnik. She was a forward who carried the girls on to victory with Beverly Guilford. Charlene Kilgour is the girls' mascot.

In a very eventful year, the varsity baseball team chalked up an 8-8 season with the assistance of Coach Siano and co-captains Ed Kilgour and Dick Swaluk.

Frontier "upset the applecart" by defeating Amherst, the league champions, with a no-loss record at the time. Some of the outstanding players this year were Jimmy Duda, Ed Kilgour, and Paul Elie, who took turns on the pitching mound.

He'll never hit it!

This year the team had an enjoyable season under the coaching of Mr. Milewski. Many of the boys' abilities were acquired during their participation in the Little League.

In spite of the strong competitive spirit displayed by the co-captains, John Yazwinski and Ted Bennett, and the efforts of the managers, Ronald La Breque and Robert Warner, the team lost to the same opponent, Greenfield, twice. The record was 3 wins and 5 losses.

He flies through the air with the greatest of ease.

This year our boys displayed their very best on the track team. In the West Springfield Track Meet, we took first place in the relays, pole-vault, and shot-put. In the Franklin County Meet, we placed second. In the Western Mass. Track Meet, we achieved the third rank in Class A. Dave Sadowsky captured the second place ribbon in the pole-vault, and shot-put ace Myron Rokoszak won fourth place in the New England Meet.

CLASS OF 1964

OFFICERS

The freshman class officers are as follows: Jean Taylor -- President; George Bell--Vice-President; Kathleen Ralicki -- Secretary; Jacalyn Bleakley--Treasurer.

The Freshman class has been very enthusiastic and school spirited. We started off the year with Richard Swiatek, Theodore Fortier, James Ludwiczak, James Duda, Michael Ciborowski, Donald Sadowsky, and James Warchol backing up the school throughout the football season. We also had the majorettes, Patricia Parzick, Elizabeth Johnston, and Maureen Stineford and the cheerleaders, Jean Taylor and Joan Peabody supporting them all the way.

Kathy Eaton, Sandra Batchelder, Beverly Graves, Linda Hassell, Linda Price, and Tina Ralicki participated successfully in field hockey.

Then as the winter snow covered the fields, we went into basketball with James Duda, James Turati, Richard Swiatek, Theodore Fortier, Kenneth Wysocki, John Bagdon, Arnold Sadowski, Allen Thomas, James Ludwiczak, James Warchol, and Robert Kostecki. Miss Goodnow guided Carol Paciesnik, Debbie Baker, Marie Drown, Tina Ralicki, and Diane Witkowski on the girls' basketball team.

As spring arrived, the boys' baseball diamond was active with James Turati, James Duda, Robert Decker, and William Fistes. In softball, Linda Hassell, Lorna Mills, Edna Lee, Carol Zimmowski, Mary Olanyk, Kathy Eaton, Tina Ralicki, Diane Witkowski, Maxine Kowalski, Joan Peabody, and Susan Howes all were active.

During the year, we had a very successful dance which added a great amount of money to the treasury.

CLASS OF 1963

In September of 1960, the Class of 1963 elected the following officers: President--Frank Mastaliz, Vice-President--Jonathan Gass, Secretary--Andrea Nelson, Treasurer--Kathleen Muir, Student Council Representative--Kenneth Olanyk. Later in the year the Student Council voted to have additional members. John Smiarowski was then elected. Our class advisors were Mr. Phillips, Mrs. Cate, and Mrs. Stais.

Sophomore Class representatives in fall sports were: Rena Jackson and Kathy Muir (for girls' field hockey), Victor Waryas, Bill Stafford, George Trenholm, George Slocombe, Stuart Watts, and Robert Pos. In football, Ken Olanyk was our assistant manager. Sophomores represented in girls' basketball were: Pat Kulessa, Joyce Bohonowicz, Carol Jackoski, and Janet Bagdon.

Front Row (Left to Right): Cheryl Burnett, Susan LaBroad, Patricia Kulessa, Frances Konieczny, Rena Jackson, Linda Maynard, Frieda Hayes, Nadine Callahan, Cheryl Chapin, Noreen Leary, Janet Bagdon. Third Row (Left to Right): Roger Clapp, John Benjamin, Richard Kisloski, David Bohonowicz, Julian Goralski, Frank Mastaliz, Donald Goscenski, Douglas Harris, Edward Ashman, Edward Gritz, Norman Graves, Robert Adamski.

Those participating in boys' basketball were as follows: Dick Tozloski, Stuart Watts, Kenneth Olanyk, Frank Mastaliz, Harold Wrisley, Jonathan Gass, Dick Kisloski, John Smiarowski, and Robert Pos.

Spring brought about baseball and track. Sophomores Ken Olanyk, Jon Gass, Frank Mastaliz, Harold Wrisley, John Smiarowski, Dick Kisloski, Edward Ashman, Paul Filipkowski, and Robert Adamski were chosen for the boys' baseball team. The track team included sophomores Roger Clapp, George Trenholm, Stuart Watts, James Zera, Carl Peterson, and Vic Waryas.

The school ring was chosen by the sophomores this spring. It is the Josten Skychief model with an Indian crest.

In the fall of 1961, with the help of the class advisors, Mrs. Enoch, Mr. Denesha, and Mr. Swicker, the junior class elected the following officers: President, Myron Rokozak; Vice President, David Swaluk; Secretary, Jean Dickinson; Treasurer, Arlene Klinker; Student Council Representatives, Barbara Finkowski and Sandra Ralicki. Class photographer is Janet Mowry.

In the spring, Myron Rokoszak and Paul Warner were the juniors taken into the National Honor Society. The class hopes to add many more members during their senior year.

The junior class this year is represented in every school organization. It is quite an accomplishment to have so many interested and energetic students who are willing to participate in the many extra-curricular activities.

In the Booster Day parade, the class entered an excellent float. The class worked very arduously to complete their entry.

A dance held in the fall was a great success, both financially and socially. Frances Barry sang a few popular tunes which everyone enjoyed.

In the spring, the annual junior elections were held. Everyone enjoyed campaigning and the excitement of the elections. Now the juniors are looking forward to their last year at Frontier Regional School.

"What are you watching?"

STUDENT GOVERNMENT DAY AND STUDENT EXCHANGE

With the cooperation of Northampton High School, students from Frontier were able to spend a day learning about the people in a neighboring community. Our five delegates prepared a plan by which they would be able to show our local points of interest and, in return, entertain Northampton students in our school district for one day.

The experience was very profitable to both participating schools because they were able to see how schools and towns other than their own are run.

On April 14th, Larry Golonka attended Student Government Day in Boston. The main purpose of the Government Day was to demonstrate how the Massachusetts Legislature operates and to give students an opportunity to take an active part in it.

The twenty first annual Model Congress was held at American International College in Springfield on April 6th, 7th, and 8th. The main purpose of the Congress was to acquaint students with the methods carried on in our nation's legislative branch. In addition, Parliamentary procedure was followed by the representatives.

Each of the five delegates from Frontier introduced a bill to their respective committees and were responsible for defending it both there and, if passed, in Congress. The committee meetings took place all day Friday, and on Saturday the delegates sat in on the all day Congress sessions.

Together with the experience and knowledge gained, the five delegates were thoroughly impressed by intricate way in which our government is run.

FRESHMAN INITIATION

The 1961 seniors had much imagination when they planned the initiation. The girls were told to wear physical education uniforms, skirts upside down, one sneaker and shoe, jar rubber around their wrists and ankles, towels worn around necks as bibs, no makeup, and washed hair without being set. The boys wore dungarees and shirts backward, bandanas around their heads, lipstick, and beauty title sashes. Through the day the seniors put the freshmen through many maneuvers. The climatic point was the assembly talent parade and skit routine.

SENIOR PROM

Royalty upon a throne

Harry Noring and his orchestra played those pieces we loved so well.

As the wheel turned, so lightly skipped our feet over the floor.

A pretty pose.

On June 3, Mary Griswold was crowned queen of our prom by Supt. Warren Bennett, who presented her with a bouquet of red roses. Chosen as her court were Barbara Dzenis, Helen Radowicz, Mary Baker, and Eileen Zimnoski. The theme was "Memory Lane". The auditorium was decorated to represent an outdoor scene. Included were apple trees in bloom and a mill with a water wheel. The color scheme was pink and green.

Our charming, gracious, and truly royal queen with her escort.

LOOKING BACK...

A young man from the diplomatic circles in the U.S.A. was entering the waiting room of a well-known Manhattan psychiatrist. This gentleman seated himself in a nearby chair while awaiting his turn to see the doctor.

Our diplomatic friend had been chosen as a candidate to represent our country in a secret documentary work for the government. He favorably passed all tests, but the government had to know if any past experiences of this man were on the shady side of the law. In 1981, the custom of testing those men who rate such high government position is administered by a psychiatrist.

Within a few minutes the psychiatrist appeared, and the young man stepped into his private office and took his place on the long black couch. As he began reviewing his past to the doctor, he suddenly hesitated, then spoke. "How similar this situation is to that moment in 1957 when we, as anxious and confused freshmen, faced a new and exciting challenge in our young lives.

"Here, the door of our future was opening. Here, we must make good or fall by the wayside. Could we meet the challenge? Yes, our minds thought. First we began by choosing our class officers and student council representative to guide us through this first eventful year. They were: President, Charles Parzick; Vice-President, Charles Sakowicz; Treasurer, Martha Graves; Secretary, Eileen Zimnoski; Student Council Representative, Harry Schryver. That year our class had many candidates display their abilities in athletics."

"We were all well represented in softball and basketball with Georgeann Dufault, Judy Kilgour, Elaine Klinker, Marion McMillen, and Sandra Scott. Under the guidance of Mr. Gallant, the following boys showed interest in athletics: Ray Wilson, Robert Jackson, Ed Kilgour, Richard Swaluk, Mike Thompson, Tom Olanyk, Charlie Sakowicz, Paul Elie, Larry Golonka, Harry Schryver, Gerald Baranoski, Harry Kuenzel, and Charles Parzick. That year our football lettermen were Len Kahle and Gerard Paciorek. These same boys plus John Goodrich and Ronald Hutkowski joined the basketball team. That year a new sport, track, was started at Frontier, and we were very proud as freshmen to have Dave Sadowsky and Gerard Paciorek become letter men."

As the patient revealed much of his past, he revealed little of himself. Then the doctor asked if, as a sophomore, he began to feel more secure and certain. To this the patient said, "Yes, somewhat. With a year of experience and a hope for a more successful one, we were eager to get under way. To have success, good officers must be elected, and we decided that our guiding stars were to be: Robert Jackson, president, Robert Adamitis; vice-president; Marjorie Backiel, secretary; and Georgeann Dufault, treasurer. Robert Laframboise took over as vice-president after the departure of Robert Adamitis."

"I see," said the doctor. "Tell me what else happened that year."

"As a class we were aware that leaders alone could not reveal the talents of all. Many of my classmates endeavored to give their 'all' for Frontier. With the new girls' physical education instructor, many joined the gymnastics club, softball, field hockey, and new organizations at the school. The following girls showed interest for sports: Lois Batchelder, Dianne Benoni, Miriam Brooks, Carol Rowe, Eileen Wilson, Martha Graves, Barbara Dzenis, Helen Radowicz, Jane Kownacki, Catherine Herlihy, and Grace Scudder. The above all tried out for at least one of the new sports, and we were proud to have one of the best representations of all the classes.

"The boys held their own in sports. Steve Trenholm, Gerald Paciorek, Robert Jackson, John Paciorek, Robert Laframboise, Bernie Kahle, and Edward Storozuk were proud to represent our class."

"What did you do besides play sports?", the doctor inquired.

"Sports kept me pretty busy that year, along with homework. I did not have much time to do anything else. Those students who had time on their hands put their talents to work in other fields. Chorus, Arrow Staff, agriculture, Science Club and Fair, and various other clubs attracted the interest of the members of our class.

"I remember the night the Dramatic Club presented the play, The Boarding House Reach. The actors were unforgettable, including our class actor Jim Griswold. When awards assemblies rolled around, our class always received its share of letters. This year Dave Dadowsky, Bob Laframboise, and Chuck Parzick received letters in track; Dick Swaluk, Ed Kilgour, Paul Elie, and Chuck Parzick received them in baseball. In football, the rougher sport, again there was Len Kahle, joined by Gerry Paciorek and Tom Olanyk.

"Then spring rolled around again, and after those last few hot days in school, we were glad to spend the summer away from classrooms. With these thoughts in mind, the reclining gentleman seemed to remember something very familiar. With his eyes beaming, he jumped from the couch and began to pace the floor.

"We had our summer fun," he said, "but along came autumn and our junior year. How quickly the time had flown, for we were now upper classmen. That year we chose Lawrence Golonka as president, Robert Jackson as vice-president, Dianne Benoni as secretary, Jane Kownacki as treasurer, and Martha Graves as our student council representatives."

The psychiatrist thought for a moment and recalled a newspaper article which he had read. "Did you have a football team that year?" he asked.

"A football team that year? I'll say we did! That year Larry Golonka ran across the goal line to give us our first victory over Arms Academy in many years. This was also the first winning effort for the school under the name Frontier. We were all there to witness the action. Sandy Stafursky, Dianne Benoni, and Irene Zajac cheered the boys, while Helen Radowicz, Barb Dzenis, Sandy Swift, Elaine Klinker, and Jane Kownacki entertained the fans with their musical talent in the band. After the victory, everyone rushed to a goal post which crashed to the ground leaving wooden souvenirs for all. Dripping with beads of perspiration, girls and boys alike proudly carried the remains through the center of South Deerfield, exclaiming their victory."

Having recalled his own high school days, the psychiatrist smiled and asked, "Didn't you have any dances that year?"

"We certainly did," sighed the patient. "For many days we planned our Jingle Bell Ball. Then came that long-awaited night. In the center of the floor stood a red sleigh filled with packages and banked by sweet smelling evergreens. Oh, what fun it was to dance in this winter wonderland!

"When the cold snowy weather came, our boys practiced tediously on the basketball court. At the end of the season our juniors, with members of the other classes, were reaping their rewards. The girls helped to capture the Grafton trophy while the boys sported the title of the Western Mass., Class B Champions."

"What a year!" exclaimed the psychiatrist.

"That's not all!" replied the gentleman. "Helen Radowicz represented our school by winning the composition contest in connection with the tourney at the University of Massachusetts. David Sadowsky had a poem published in the National Anthology, and Leonard Kahle won the American Legion oratorical contest from the school. Larger numbers of juniors could be seen scurrying to the following meetings: Arrow Staff, Varsity Staff, Dramatics Club, Chess Club, Home Economics, Explorer Scouts, and Science Club.

"In the spring we found that we had many aspiring athletes in our class. The girls played softball while the boys were seen on the baseball diamond and the track field. Dave Sadowsky won the title of Western Mass. Champ in the pole vault at Springfield College.

"It was at that time that Helen won a plaque at the University of Massachusetts Science Fair and then proceeded to win a ticket to Chicago at the Greenfield Fair. Harry Kuenzel became a well-known boy in this area by winning at the State Industrial Fair with his hutch cabinet and sports car. The pieces then went to Detroit for the fair there.

"We were all very proud of these people who had represented our school and prouder still to learn that five members were to be inducted into the National Honor Society: Martha graves, Helen Radowicz, Elaine Klinker, Ruth Uzdavinis, and John Goodrich.

"Our junior year was coming to a close when much excitement again filled the air. We found out who the potential politicians were. Posters were made, speeches were given, and gimmicks and gags were used in the election of senior officers. Helen Radowicz became our president, Charles Parzick, our vice-president, Dianne Benoni, our secretary, and Jane Kownacki, our treasurer.

"With this job done we were ready to take another vacation. Most everyone, by this time, had obtained his driver's license after successfully completing the Driver Education course. What a summer we had with car and license! We also had plenty of time to dream of that last big year ahead of us.

"In September we entered school for the last time--our best and most memorable year, and guiding the student activities were our newly elected Student Council members Leonard Kahle, Larry Golonka, and Harry Kuenzel, led by our president, Helen Radowicz.

"Things seem to be going our way from the start and in sports we did well." exclaimed the excited man. "Our football team, headed by Larry Golonka and Harry Kuenzel, defeated the tough team from South Hadley among others. We had a creditable 4-3-1 record--the most successful in the school's history. Co-captains Martha Graves and Betty Ralicki helped our girls' field hockey team make a fine name for themselves and the school that year.

"I've never seen such a pace as was set by our girls' and boys' basketball teams. Did you know that our boys won the supplementary title at the Small School Tournament for the second year in a row? The roof really came down when our boys made that winning basket in the final game. Eddie Kilgour and Larry Golonka led that big squad. Our girls' team, not to be outdone, came home from Grafton with the coveted "A" division title and a busload of trophies. Judy Kilgour and Georgeann Dufault shared the "most valuable player" award, while Martha Graves won the sportsmanship trophy. The all-tourney team included Judy Kilgour, Georgeann Dufault, and Betty Ralicki. Judy, Betty, and Martha were the co-captains of that undefeated team.

"Larry Golonka, who was elected our Student Government Day representative, was also chosen as a marshal along with Edmund Drown, Edward Storozuk, David Sadowsky, Betty Ralicki, Dianne Benoni, and Donald Graves. This new system gave the students a chance to help one another in keeping order in the school."

"Did you have many clubs in that year?" questioned the psychiatrist.

"Among the hardworking seniors were Miriam Brooks, editor of the Arrow, and Marion McMillen, editor of the "Varsity." Not to be outdone were the Science, Chess, Homemakers, Girls' and Boys' Varsity Clubs, Explorers, Usherettes, Band, Chorus, and Vo-Ag Clubs, which enjoyed increased participation and success.

"We had many awards given out in my senior year," exclaimed the exuberant man. "Martha Graves was the D.A.R. Girl, while Jane Kownacki won the Betty Crocker Award, and the winner of the dressmaking contest was Arlene Laskowski. Miriam Brooks and Sally Wolfram had well-expressed essays published in the National Anthology, while Richard Callahan distinguished himself by winning a National Merit Scholarship certificate."

While the patient stopped to catch his breath, the doctor reached for a glass of water. He barely had time to take a sip before the man continued again, filled with the unrelenting enthusiasm of his senior year.

"You know our cheerleaders were certainly "on the ball" that year. With co-captains Dianne Benoni and Sandy Stafursky, the team captured first place at the Spencer tournament by defeating many worthy teams. Their trophy was the biggest Frontier had received," reminisced the man.

"The cheerleaders weren't the only ones on stage that year. Carolyn Harris, a new member of our class, starred in the dramatic play, The Night Is My Enemy, along with Charles Parzick, Sayla McClellan, and James Griswold.

"Later in the year the talents of Miriam Brooks, David Sadowsky, and Ken Warchol were shown in the production, Bull in a China Shop. Our presentation in the State Drama Festival was Give Us Time to Sing, which featured Carolyn Harris and James Griswold."

"Your class certainly kept itself busy," said the doctor.

"It surely did," said the gentleman," and there is much more yet. I don't want to forget our representatives in the Student Exchange program with Northampton High School. Those chosen few were: Barbara Dzenis, Martha Graves, and Richard Swaluk. The skillful debaters, Miriam Brooks, Helen Radowicz, Jane Kownacki, Len Kahle, and John Goodrich, with Charles Parzick and Betty Ralicki as alternates, attended the A.I.C. Model Congress, under the guidance of Mr. Denesha. The annual school Science Fair found Helen Radowicz again a winner of a first prize, while Harry Kuenzel, Stanley Shaw, and Larry Fortier won high honors in the Industrial Arts Fair."

"More yet?" asked the psychiatrist.

"Much more," smiled the happy man. "I told you our class was quite a pacesetter. John Paciorek, Gerry Paciorek, Martha Graves, Michael Morawski, and Helen Radowicz each won the Citizen of the Month award. Added to the National Honor Society were Barbara Dzenis, David Sadowsky, Larry Golonka, Sarah Wolfram, Eileen Zimnoski, Miriam Brooks, Donald Graves, and Jane Kownacki. In the Vo-Ag department, Michael Morawski won the title of State Star Farmer.

"As spring approached, the track, softball, and baseball teams got under way. With Western Massachusetts star pole vaulter, David Sadowsky as captain, our track team took second in the Franklin County Track Meet. Breaking records was a common occurence for some of the members of the team. Our baseball team, headed by Edward Kilgour and Richard Swaluk, had a good season, which included a big upset over previously undefeated Amherst. The girls' softball team, headed by co-captains Eileen Wilson and Georgeann Dufault, had another successful season."

"How were the social events that year?" questioned the doctor enthusiastically.

"Our Senior Prom on June 3 was based around the theme of memories, and was an event not to be forgotten. Trees in bloom, picket fences, and a water wheel all made a truly magnificent setting for our beautiful queen, Mary Griswold. Then on June 8 we had our last fun-filled gathering at Babbs Beach with food, food, food and, boy, how we did eat! Too soon the day came to its end.

"Suddenly class night was upon us, and proudly we put on our caps and gowns to receive the various awards which were to be given to seniors that night. Then came the night of nights, June 13, our graduation. Here came a climax to four tedious years at Frontier High School. After receiving congratulations from our friends, parents, and faculty, we left with our diplomas, each to a different way of life."

The man sat quietly thinking back to that eventful time in his life. The psychiatrist did not interrupt his thought, since he realized the gentleman did not care to be back in reality for the moment. Finally the patient looked up at the doctor and said with a smile, "Well, doctor, that's my background. I'd say I got a very good start, wouldn't you?"

FORECAST FOR THE FUTURE

One night during my vacation in 1981, I decided to look at the old "Cheyenne" show, which is now written by Beverly Guilford, former author of "Trackdown"; and whom do you suppose I saw?--Ed Drown acting as Cheyenne and Ed was sitting on a famous horse from Martha Graves' stables. Martha's riding school was so large now she had many horses to spare.

Suddenly the program was interrupted, and Bob Jackson, one of my former classmates, appeared with the rocket he used to make his first trip to the moon. He had left Betsy Baker on the moon to conduct a safe-driving course in automobiles. The television announcer, whom I recognized as Jim Griswold, then stated that the spaceman had broken his little toe when he tripped on the landing steps of the rocket because the news photographer, Paul Charsky, had blinded him with a sixty-watt flashbulb.

The new spaceman had been immediately taken to the hospital at Cape Canaveral for observation and for medical treatment on his toe. In the meantime, Jerry Baranoski, a renowned rocket technician, had taken Bob's craft to the testing center for examination while Bob was hospitalized. Speaking of hospitals, it has been reported by the papers that Ronnie Hutkowski, an electrician on the Mickey Mouse Club production, is in the same hospital. His nurse, Mary Griswold, claimed that he was a very shocking patient.

Since I was on a vacation and hadn't planned anything, I thought that it would be a good idea if I made a trip to see this astronaut with whom I had gone to school at Frontier. "Cheyenne" was finished, so I turned to the "Roller Skating Derby" and watched an outstanding performance by Marjorie Backiel.

After this program, I looked at "Miriam Brooks Presents", a drama similar to those of Alfred Hitchcock back in 1961. This mystery supposedly was taking place in the roaring sixties when a beautiful damsel, played by Carolyn Harris, the leading T.V. heroine of 1981, became involved in a bank robbery and was brought to court by D.A. John Goodrich. John was making a personal appearance on the show because Miriam was producing an actual case of his. As the hour was now getting late, I decided to retire, for my trip would be very long.

The next morning I left my summer cottage in the Adirondacks and started for New York City, where I would spend the first night. Immediately after I started on route, I saw in a field a man bent over at work. Needing directions, I stopped to inquire and discovered that he was Jim Grybko, busily planting his radiated cucumber seeds. Having secured the directions, I continued on my way. Later, as I approached an intersection, I was forced off the road by a car that had printed on it: "Judith Bessie's Safe Driving School: for information telephone Undertaker 4U-0000." When I got back on the road, I spotted a sign reading, "How I caught My Man". For advice see Lois Batchelder at her bowling alley or Dianne Benoni at her pizza house.

After arriving in New York, I resolved to watch the Yankees battle out a game with the Ridgerunners from Conway, Massachusetts. This team was now at the top of the American League. While I was walking toward Yankee Stadium, I noticed cars screeching because they were suddenly forced to stop by a tall jaywalker whom I recognized, after close scrutiny, as one of my former classmates, Richard Callahan. He was presently the manager of the Ridgerunners. Standing in line to buy a ticket, I met Priscilla Farrick and Georgeann Dufault, who were soon to go to Moscow as good will ambassadors. Priscilla planned to demonstrate her knowledge of what physical therapy can do for people while Georgeann exhibits her athletic abilities. As I was purchasing my ticket, I recognized the ticket girl, Barbara Dzenis. She had such good training in selling at Frontier that she now managed all gate receipts at the ball park. Sitting down, I perceived Paul Elie, the pitcher for the Yankees who was arguing with the umpire, Larry Golonka, about a bad call. Throughout the game, I observed the unique slow moving style of the bat deliveries made by Larry Fortier.

As I was leaving New York by plane, I met Grace Scudder, who was the charming hostess who served me lunch and Charlie Sakowicz, who piloted the craft. Among my traveling companions were Jane Kownacki, who at that time was selling sun tan lotion to Eskimos in Alaska, and Helen Radowicz, who was a scientist publicized for her controversial dispute concerning Einstien's Theory of Relativity.

Landing on a stopover, I decided to converse with my former classmates about old times. Helen asked me what I thought about our ex-student council member Len Kahle's becoming elected the Democratic President. According to what I had read by journalist Madeline Mieczkowski, she had stated that he was chosen through political conniving. Immediately after the election, he had appointed Mike Morawski, Secretary of Agriculture, and his brother Bernie, as ruler of Hawaii and the girls at Wai-Ki-Ki. Midge's article also stated that, "as a result, the world was in a turmoil."

I hardly have time to read the newspapers, but I did see that Charles Parzick had been hired as the Dean of Admissions at a girls' school. I can remember distinctly Chuck's techniques for charming the girls, especially his flirting with Judy Kilgour, who uses her strategy in coaching the girls at Bridgewater State College. Together with her twin brother, Eddy, they hold the record for being the only pair to win the Davis Cup four times in a row.

After a pause, Helen recalled seeing Sayla McClellan's name on a poster for a Broadway hit co-starring Kenny Warchol. She could remember Kenny's antics in chemistry class with Sandy Stafursky, who now looks into people's subconscious minds instead of into test tubes.

To end our chat, we decided to drive together, and we found a quaint little restaurant entitled, Paciorek's Polish Paradise, where Jerry baked the most savory pastries and Joannie Korpiewski cooked the finest of dishes with Stanley Shaw as the chief mixer of the best fruit punches in that area.

After saying "au revoir" to Janie and Helen, I went to the Whitney Rent-a-Car agency. There I chatted with salesman-owner Warren, who proceeded to tell me of Mickey Thompson's inheritance of one million dollars. Our wealthy friend was in the process of financing the Pronowicz-Trentholm Muscle Building School and the Martha Poston Geology Expedition, which was going to Egypt.

The car I borrowed for the day was designed by Harry Kuenzel and built by John Paciorek. Warren also informed me that Harry Schryver, the famous hell driver, was racing there for a grand prize of $10,000. By that time, however, I would be at Cape Canaveral. Located nearby was the establishment of Walter Rudnicki, who traded cars rather than renting them. Mike Pilvinis recently had exchanged his 1981 model that rode above the ground for one that went even higher. He felt that hitting the low air pockets and stones was too dangerous.

In the evening, I decided I needed a little relaxation from so much traveling. After inquiring around, someone suggested I go to Heavenly Nights, a hotel owned by Irene Zajac, who employed Marion Wojkielewicz as her head receptionist and bookkeeper.

To my surprise, the floor show here featured George Melnik and his "Off-Beats." George thumped on his bongos, while Sally Wolfram accompanied him by playing the piano. George, at intermission time, came over to my table. His first words were, "Gosh, I haven't seen you since the graduation party when Dave Sadowsky tripped and fell into the swimming pool. By the way, do you know what he's doing now?"

"Eileen Wilson and he are touring Europe as coaches of the U.S. men and women's track team. Eileen holds the 50-yard dash record and David pole vaulted 18 feet in the Olympics back in '72. The Wilson family is indeed sports-minded, for her brother Ray is doing well in instructing gymnastics at the Naval Academy at Annapolis. For the past two years, Navy had beaten Army in these field events."

"Do you remember Sandra Scott, our class artist? Now she is the top artist in the nation and has just completed the life-size portrait of Arlene Laskowski, a famous dress designer. The portrait displays the dress ensemble she wore which earned first prize for Arlene in a nation-wide contest."

On returning to my room, I glanced out the window and saw a big golf driving range, and I was reminded of two caddies back in my class, Ruth Uzdavinis and Elaine Klinker, who, I thought, have done very well at Pinehurst. They had become professional golfers. Speaking of reaching the top, two other Frontier gals have also achieved the same high goals. Dorothy Ralicki has reached the top in her position as a private secretary to a Madison Avenue Executive, and Linda Rup was still in the field of management and now has charge of building the tallest sky scraper in the world.

Because of my accidental meetings, I reminisced about the class of '61. On the flight, I visualized Donnie Graves producing the first portion of the prophecy, and I guess that experience helped him in his career because he won the 1961 Pulitzer Prize in literature for WHAT THE FUTURE HOLDS.

Marian McMillen followed in his footsteps, so to speak, since she is the President of the McMillen Book Company which published his works. She received her opportunity to enter into the business because she bore the name McMillen. Her personal secretary was Dottie Clark, who proved that marriages and careers can go hand in hand in these modern times.

According to a late news report, Patricia Olynik gave recently a lecture concerning the economics of our country. Her great speaking ability came as a result of the Dale Carnege Speech Course in which she enrolled. Patty Wickline travels with her to the various cities in the U.S. to procure data for her latest novel, WHAT BOOKS SHOULD ONE READ?

Mary Ann Sokoloski, having been interested in styling and hair dressing, opened a beauty salon in Hollywood on Sunset Boulevard. Not far from her shop, Betty Ralicki, police officer, arrested a registered nurse, Sandra Swift, on a complaint of speeding. Our police officer discovered, however, that Sandy was on her way to the rehabilitation center of which Carol Rowe is now the head. I guess her time spent in the guidance room at Frontier influenced her career

Before leaving for Cape Canaveral, I had heard that Stanley Golash was at Fort Knox guarding the gold reserve.

After arriving in Florida, I took a bus to Cape Canaveral. There a friendly Army officer, who was Edward Storozuk, the chief explorer of the space world in the Army division there, revealed to me upon questioning him about the astronaut that Bob had left after receiving a telegram from electronic engineers Tom Olanyk and Richard Smith. These two wanted to help him journey to Mars.

Ed told me that Dick Swaluk was now head pharmacist for all medical supplies for our astronauts, and that Stanley Golash was an accountant at Fort Knox.

So I, Eileen Zimnoski, had to call an end to my vacation and return to my writing articles about Advice to the Lovelorn.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the Class of 1961, being of sound mind and body (we think) do hereby make this our last will and testament.

To Mr. Ashenden we will a new road wide enough to get him to his home during the winter time.
We leave Mrs. Beattie 180 sunny days so she may lie in the sun on her new chaise lounge.
To Mrs. Bleakley we leave another pair of hands with which to answer all the telephones in the office.
We give Mr. Bryant an auto manual entitled "How to Shift a Volkswagen."
To Mrs. Cate we give our congratulations for attending school functions above and beyond the call of duty.
We leave Mr. Cowan more lab material so he may cut down on his daily trips to the senior high.
To Miss Crown we bequeath season tickets to all the best plays in the area.
We leave Mr. Denesha a volume of books in which he can write history any way he pleases.
To Mr. Edgar we will a ton of lost towels so that he will be able to collect more money.
To Mrs. Enoch we give as many pairs of shoes as there are colors.
We leave Mr. Everett a class full of Sandy Stafurskys to keep him smiling.
To Mr. Filkins we leave a hope chest and a four-year scholarship to Frontier for his three-month-old daughter.
To Mr. Fonda we bequeath one year's supply of worms; if we can't get them, we will give him back his sophomores.
To Mr. Frigard we leave $1,000 worth of extra money in the senior class treasury so he won't have to argue with Miss Pete about how to spend it.
To Miss Goodnow we leave a Chevy with the compliments of Miss Peterson.
We leave Mrs. Gagner a supply of coins so she won't run out at the laundrymat.
To Mr. Kalinick we bequeath a forty-eight-hour day so he will not have to work on Saturdays.
We leave Mrs. LaPlante an automatic snow shoveler so she will not have to get up on cold winter mornings.
To Mr. MacDonald we bequeath a class full of Harry Kuenzels to bring him fame.
To Mr. Milewski we leave a new pair of skis in hopes that he will be more careful.
We give Mr. Parker an umbrella so he will not get wet on his way to the "Aggie" building on rainy days.
To Miss Peterson we bequeath a crying towel, hoping next year's French III students will have fewer problems than the present ones.
We leave Mr. Phillips a road-e-o winner.
We leave Mr. Pugsley permission to throw out students who use his office as a lounge.
To Mr. Reed we will thirty "grandes bouches" in one class.
To Mr. Roger we bequeath a shotgun with which to shoot people who pronounce his name with an "s".
To Mrs. Ryan we leave a jewelry case as large as a trunk for all her jewels.
To Mr. Sheehan we give some new holidays so that he will be able to decorate his room to a greater extent.
We leave Mr. Siano with our congratulations and his new bride.
We leave Mr. Short a pair of stilts so that he may be seen in band and chorus.
To Mrs. Spindler we bequeath a pair of combat boots and a rifle for "cafeteria patrol."
To Mrs. Stais we leave a classroom and a big desk so she will not have to pack up as if she were going on a trip each period.
To Mr. Stokarski we will an immaculately clean cafeteria for the summer.
To Mr. Swicker we leave a really cool homeroom-and we don't refer to the students.
To Mr. Thomas we leave a new cap to give him that collegiate look.
To Mr. Walker we bequeath a supply of boys 5' 10" or taller for his dramatic productions.
To Mr. Weeden we bequeath a bottle of Mr. Clean and an apron to help him in his spring cleaning.
To the cafeteria staff we leave a book entitled One Hundred and One Ways to Use Hamburg.
To Mr. Stoberski we give a student body which leaves the building as neat as he makes it.
We leave Mr. Sanicki a wider garage so that he will not have to keep his new Chevy outside.
Marge Backiel leaves her "racked up" automobile to Gus Peabody.
Betsey Baker leaves her hot Chevy to any of the boys who want to follow the girls' basketball team next year.
Gerry Baranoski leaves his over-used razor blades to Bill Melnik.
Lois Batchelder leaves for the French King Bowling Alleys.
Dianne Benoni leaves the continuation of her pizza parties to Beverly Palmisano.
Judy Besse leaves with Dick in mind.
Miriam Brooks leaves her troubles with the Arrow to next year's editor.
Dick Callahan leaves his red shoes to anyone who has courage enough to wear them.
Paul Charsky leaves his picture-taking ability to Jan Lankowski.
Dorothy Clark leaves to the strains of the "Wedding March."
Georgeann Dufault leaves her underhanded layup in basketball to Carol Paciesnik.
Ed Drown leaves his studious ways to Charles Baronas.
Paul Elie leaves his bowling ball to Andy Korzan.
Priscilla Farrick leaves, legally, to go shopping.
Larry Fortier leaves his fish stories to his brother, Teddy.
Stanley Golash leaves his quiet, well-mannered ways to Charles Maiewski.
Larry Golonka leaves his problems in "Problems" to anyone who wants them.
John Goodrich leaves his crew cut to Fran Wysocki.
Donald Graves leaves with galoshes in hand.
Martha Graves leaves some tranquilizers to her horse so that it will stay at home.
Mary Griswold leaves her school spirit at basketball games to anyone who is a "deadhead."
James Griswold leaves his depleted insurance policy to Dave Sanicki.
Beverly Guilford leaves her love for square dancing to Bethany Lively.
James Grybko leaves with glee.
Carolyn Harris leaves an ice box full of food to anyone who wants to entertain guests properly.
Ronnie Hutkowski leaves Mr. Swicker alone.
Bob Jackson leaves his secret hair tonic to George Bell.
Bernie Kahle leaves his ability to annoy teachers to his brother Dan.
Lennie Kahle leaves Shelly Berman records and heads for Fort Lauderdale where the boys are.
Ed Kilgour leaves his position on the basketball team to whoever merits it.
Judy Kilgour leaves her seat in chemistry class to anyone who is unfortunate enough to take it.
Elaine Klinker leaves for the golf course with her favorite caddy from Turners Falls.
Joan Korpiewski leaves her good-natured smile to a "sour puss."
Jane Kownacki leaves her dead racoon to anyone who wants a successful senior party next year.

Harry Kuenzel leaves all his cars to someone who can put them all together and make one run.
Arlene Laskowski leaves her sewing ability to Gerry Klinker.
Marion McMillen leaves her pet expressions to anyone who mumbles low enough.
Sayla McClellan leaves her dramatic ability to Maxine Kowalski who is off to a good start.
George Melnick leaves his bongo drums to Carol Bostley.
Madeline Mieczkowski leaves a supply of firecrackers to a person who enjoys setting them on fire in people's driveways.
Mike Morawski leaves his ability to win farming prizes to John Baronas.
Thomas Olanyk leaves his electric shaver to Candy Bleakley, so that she may remember her wonderful freshman initiation.
Pat Olynik leaves a one-way ticket to Westover to anyone who could use it.
Gerry Paciorek leaves with Joanie.
John Paciorek leaves his chess set to Richard Ostrowski.
Chuck Parzick leaves his constant flirting to Dick Swiatek.
Mike Pilvinis leaves his dislike of school work to Carolyn Taylor, who has exhibited a strong similiar trait.
Martha Poston leaves for the Women's Air Force.
Jimmy Pronowicz leaves his love for Nash automobiles to the freshmen, who would like any type of car.
Helen Radowicz leaves her math skill to anyone who can keep Mr. Frigard happy by solving his math problems.
Dorothy Ralicki leaves her giggles to take the place of the fire siren, believing that they can be heard for a longer way.
Betty Ralicki leaves her secret formula for being energetic to anyone who likes Wheaties.
Carol Rowe leaves her smile to Bobby Pos.
Walt Rudnicki leaves his smashed bobsled to Donald Sadowsky, who loves to repair things.
Linda Rup leaves to go to her boyfriend.
David Sadowsky leaves his genuine Fiberglas vaulting pole to anyone who can pole vault as high as he can.
Charles Sakowicz leaves a copy of the Reader's Digest to anyone who will accept it.
Harry Schryver leaves his ability to shift an automatic transmission to Sharon Collins.
Sandy Scott leaves the road to Conway safe once more.
Grace Scudder leaves her job at Billings Drug Store to someone who likes ice cream.
Stanley Shaw leaves his place at the end of the lunch line to the people who always "cut in."

Mary Ann Sokoloski leaves her ability to concentrate on her studies in homeroom to John Mieczkowski.
Dick Smith leaves his chemistry intelligence to Gail Snicker.
Sandy Stafursky leaves, reading "Peanuts" and listening to the Kingston Trio.
Dick Swaluk leaves Beverly for University of Connecticut.
Sandy Swift leaves her ability to knock down beehives to anyone who would like to try it.
Michael Thompson leaves his bulky red sweater to the freshman girls.
Steve Trenholm leaves his skill on the parallel bars to anyone with enough muscles.
Ed Storozuk leaves his marshal's arm band to anyone who would like to take over his noisy seventh grade class.
Ruth Uzdavinis leaves her diary to True Confessions.
Ken Warchol leaves his ability to say the wrong thing at the right time to Carol Jackoski.
Warren Whitney leaves his three-year seat in English to anyone foolish enough to want it more than once.
Patty Wickline leaves her love of reading to the English I D class, who have no desire whatsoever.
Eileen Wilson leaves her gymnastic ability to Patsy Parzick.
Ray Wilson leaves his constant worrying to Karen Crafts.
Marion Wojtkielewicz leaves her dislike of wearing heels to Patty Kulessa.
Sally Wolfram leaves a new piano to replace the dilapidated one now in use.
Irene Zajac leaves a broken telephone pole, a smashed fire hydrant, and a slightly used Edsel.
Eileen Zimnoski leaves her ability to parallel park a car to anyone who receives instructions from a driver education class on how to vacate said car from parking area without the aid of a policeman.

CLASS POEM

As we walk down this aisle
and through Frontier's halls,
We think of all the tears and joys seen by its stalwart walls.

Tonight behind us we shall leave
all these familiar sights;
To search a future somewhere outside that for us is bright.

The many things we learned from you shall help in many ways
To make us see the path to take and not to go astray.

In these past years we have grown through obstacles and strife;
With seeds of knowledge which have been sown
to guide our future life.

We shall work so very hard to meet our obligations
So that all men may freely live in peaceful harmony among all nations.

SENIOR CLASS MOTTO

"The future is not in the hands of fate, but in ours".

COMMENCEMENT

Walking down the aisle to the music of "Pomp and Circumstance", the girls in white gowns, the boys in blue, we gathered together for the last time as a class here at Frontier. With tears in our eyes we said, "Good-bye."

SALUTATORY

THE FOURTH R

Members of the Clergy, Distinguished Guests, Members of the Faculty, and Friends:

We, the class of 1961 of Frontier Regional High School, welcome you to our graduation. As we venture into the world, a timely topic seems to be the fourth R.

Is our present society failing to meet the challenge of the fourth R? In the past few years many advances have been made in the teaching of reading, 'riting, and 'rithmetic. The fourth R, upon which the future of our nation depends, seems to have been obscured in the anxiety and the feverish tempo of the Space Age. The inability or unwillingness of many people to distinguish right-from-wrong, the fourth R, has formed an ever-deepening crack in the foundation of their moral character. Players of college football and basketball teams forfeit games for a price. Students, our hope for the future, openly cheat on examinations. The Bernard Goldfines, who evade hundreds of thousands of dollars in income taxes, tap the life line of our economy. Douglas Johnson, the Negro janitor from Los Angeles, who returned to Brinks the $240,000 he found, is openly taunted and ridiculed by the public for being honest. A disc jockey testifies before a congressional investigation committee, "Payola is the American way of life." Are you willing to sit by and agree?

A challenging problem confronts us. Evil is recognized as a part of all periods, all communities, and all races. If a few right-thinking people of strong conviction can arouse our apathetic society, good can triumph over this evil, for right makes might.

As our young are taught the mysteries of the earth, so must they be taught moral values, with the reasons for laws and social standards. Through the combined, cooperative efforts of the home, church, school, and community they must be shown and guided along the right path. This will not be difficult to do if they are made to realize moral standards have evolved through the need of the individual for his own protection. Speed limits are posted to prevent you from being killed. Taxes must be paid so that you, the individual, may reap the benefits of security and well-being. Would you choose to be operated on by the doctor who cheated in medical school? As you insure your homes and valuables, so must you insure your future by deeply instilling in the young the knowledge to discriminate between right and wrong.

The late Joseph N. Welch, well-known counsel in the Army-McCarthy hearings, stated: "If it were in my power to bestow on the youth of the land one single quality, I would not choose, I think, wit or wisdom or even that great boon, education. If I could choose but one, I would choose integrity. If your children are to have integrity, they must find it in the home and in you." Mr. Welch recognized that a good example set in the home is the most effective teacher of the fourth R--the most important R of all.

In these times when life is at stake, we can not let our nation be weakened by dishonesty. Man learns by experience. The United States, which is often compared to the Roman Empire, must not, as it did, decay through graft, corruption, and a laxity in moral standards. Diogenes, an ancient Greek philosopher, walked the streets of Athens with a lighted lantern in his hand, unsuccessfully searching for an honest man. May a twentieth century Diogenes, encircling the globe in a satellite, find honest men living together in peace and harmony.

Martha Graves

VALEDICTORY

DOES MIGHT MAKE RIGHT?

In the future, we, the Class of 1961, shall face many problems concerning ourselves and the world about us. Some questions arising in our minds will go unanswered. To other queries we shall demand replies. When we find some brawny boy taking candy away from a small child, a question will begin to form in our minds. As we see some unidentified nation become the mighty leader in the world, and as we see this nation conquer lands and brainwash people, we shall wonder what right that country has to do so. Dubiously we shall then ask, "Does might really make right?"

That question is not a new one, for, if we review early Greek history, we shall find that Thucydides discussed that problem in the "Melian Dialogue." The Athenians conquered the Melians and, killing all who were of military age, enslaved the women and children. This mighty state, although believing ". . . the powerful exact what they can, and the weak grant what they must," certainly had no right to massacre the people.

Might does not make right if power is invested in the hands of the wrong person. Let us use Adolf Hitler as an example. During the 1930's, he was given great dictatorial power in order to suppress the communists who had supposedly set fire to several buildings in Germany. As head official of his government, he was able to do as he wished. Even the disarmament clauses of the Versailles Treaty were ignored by Hitler as he prepared to make Germany the world's greatest power. Poland, Denmark, Norway, the Netherlands, Belgium, and France all fell into his grasp. Yes, Hitler's country probably was the strongest in Europe. The fact that he was so mighty, however, was no reason why he should have persecuted the Jews and declared the Nordic race supreme, or why he should have conquered innocent and helpless people. The fact that he was powerful gave him no right to rule as he did.

The influential Ku Klux Klan of the 1800's can be cited as another example of might. Members of that secret organization used terrifying methods to persuade Negroes to vote the Democratic ticket. By burning crosses and by sometimes killing those who refused to co-operate, the Ku Klux Klan frightened Negroes. As the Klan grew in membership, its power also increased. Negroes, realizing the might of the organization, often voted as they were instructed.

As we, living in the twentieth century, look back at this period in history, we see the fallacy in the statement, "Might makes right;" for, indeed, the power of that secret organization did not justify the fact that people were murdered. In a democracy such as ours, it is not just that a small group of powerful persons can influence others to vote in such a manner as did the Ku Klux Klan.

In a progressive nation such as the United States, might should not make right. The framers of the Constitution set up the executive, legislative, and judicial branches of government as a system of checks and balances. Under such a system, no one group could completely control the government, for each would check the others. If we look back in history to the days of the Reconstruction Period, we shall find a time when the legislative body, seeming to have more power than the executive branch, made a wrong decision. In 1861, President Lincoln granted amnesty to those who had rebelled, for he never accepted the view that the southern states had seceded from the Union.

Helen Radowicz

He believed, in fact, that although those states had resisted law enforcement, they were still a part of the Union. The powerful Congress had a different conception. They thought that the states had seceded and therefore must meet certain conditions before they could be readmitted. President Johnson, believing as Lincoln, introduced an equitable reconstruction plan for the states which had rebelled. Requiring them to ratify certain amendments and setting up a strict military rule, Congress, in favor of a more severe plan, not only vetoed the President's idea, but also impeached Johnson for his defense of the Constitution. Certainly, one can see that the Congressmen were wrong in their decision. Here we have an example of a mighty and powerful Congress--powerful enough to defeat the plan and impeach the President for his views. No matter how mighty the legislative body was, nothing could make their decision a right one.

By reviewing history, we can profit from the mistakes of our forefathers and make our own government a better one. President Johnson once said, ". . . the history of the world has been written in vain if it does not teach us that unrestrained authority can never be safely trusted in human hands." We must realize that when constitutions are written they must not be amended by only a few men in power. Basic points should be resolved by the people, voting in elections for men who will not abuse power. We, as future voters, must elect capable leaders; for ". . . the future is not in the hands of Fate, but in ours." We must remember that from the annals of the world, this lesson is to be learned: Might does not make right!

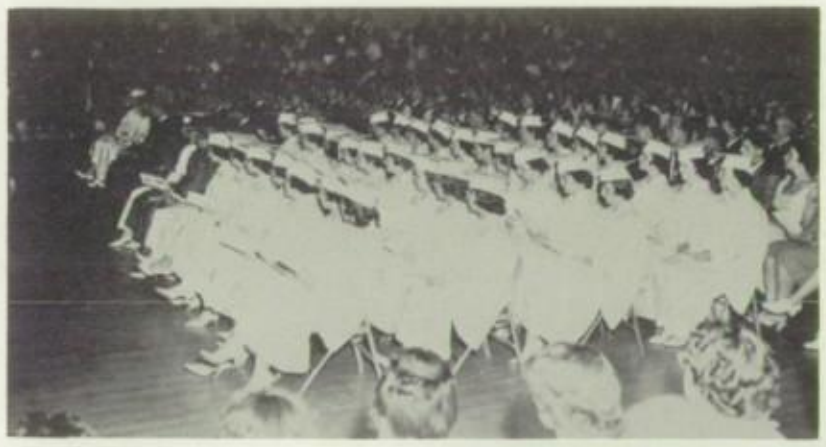
Leaders of the future

"We learn not in school, but in life."

In this modern world of ours, thousands of unknowns are ours to conquer. "The future is not in the hands of fate, but in ours." As we leave these halls, each of us knows that he must overcome at least one horizon however small and seemingly insignificant.

o
104 and we're "beat"!



Out into the vast unknowns

They honor us.
